

Description

Emory Knoll Farms' knowledgeable staff created this specific mix of plants to work well as an extremely reliable base cover in all green roof applications. Particularly useful in maintenance situations. These plants have proven to be successful long-term, and adapt well to different light, temperature, and cultural conditions, once on the roof. They are sturdy, very heat tolerant, mat-forming species that grow quickly, and will assist in the establishment of other perennial accents. Their persistent nature helps reduce weeding and will provide dependable coverage.
